→ Department of Cardiovascular Sciences

→ The University of Leicester is internationally recognised for its excellence in research and teaching. The University is now expanding its Department of Cardiovascular Sciences and is seeking to make new appointments at Chair/Reader/Senior Lecturer level. There are three clinical and one non-clinical post available. The posts are part of a major investment in cardiovascular research, which includes the recent appointment of a Chair in Diabetes Medicine and the construction of a new Cardiovascular Research Centre with state-of-the-art facilities at Glenfield Hospital. Appointment to the clinical posts will be in association with the University Hospitals of Leicester NHS Trust. This is an exciting opportunity to join a highly regarded, ambitious Department in the School of Medicine.

To ensure appointments of the highest quality and to encourage applications by both established investigators and those with great potential at a slightly earlier stage in their career, the posts are offered flexibly at Chair/Reader or Senior Lecturer level. Applicants for all clinical posts should be, or be eligible to be, on the Specialist Register of the General Medical Council, and will be awarded honorary consultant contracts by the University Hospitals of Leicester NHS Trust.
